TUSCAN CUISINE:

This region is known for its savory flavors and cooking traditions. The Tuscan cuisine is a blend of fresh ingredients and locally sourced foods, which are cooked and served in a variety of ways to create a unique dining experience. It is known for its use of olive oil, fresh herbs, and spices, such as garlic, basil, and thyme. The region is also known for its rich pasta dishes, such as carbonara, and its hearty stews, such as ribollita. The Tuscan cuisine is also famous for its wines, such as Chianti and Brunello di Montalcino. The Tuscan cuisine is not only about the food, but also the cultural experience of savoring the flavors and traditions of the region. It is a way of life that is deeply rooted in the local culture and history.

Dear Alumni and Friends,

I invite you to join us on an extraordinary journey through the picturesque Tuscan countryside June 18–26, 2019. Experience Tuscany’s 12-13th Century art, superb cuisine, delightful wines, rugged mountains, the charming hill towns of Siena and Cortona, and the beautiful city of Florence.

Joseph M. Wardwell, associate professor of painting in the Department of Fine Arts at Brandeis University, will lead our tour with local guides and experts. Prof. Wardwell has lived in Siena and is a founder and director of the Brandeis in Siena program. His insider’s knowledge of the area’s artists, traditions, and culture will enhance the experience.
